How to keep safe when we welcome you back to school

To stop people from catching a virus and getting poorly we have all been at home with our families keeping safe and washing our hands.

Soon it will be time to come back to school and some of your family might go back to work.

Things will look a bit different but the adults at school are working hard so that you can still have fun.

You can wear your own clothes to school, you can wear your favourite colour if you want to.

You might be with different children but they will still be your friends.

When you walk into school you must stay with your grown up, it is very important that you do not go too close to other people.

You can wave at your friends and say hello but you need to keep your hands safe.

When you get to school you need to follow your grown up through the car park to the field. The gates will open and you can walk into school.

You can hug your grown up and say goodbye. You will see them at hometime

When you walk into school you must remember you must not get too close to your friends and you need to keep your hands safe.

The classroom might look a bit different too, this is to keep everyone safe. You will be able to see your teacher and friends and wave to them but you will not be able to be close to them.

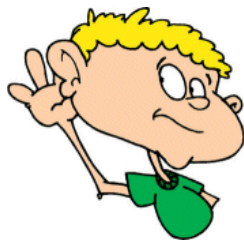

You can go outside to play but you must stay away from the play equipment. You can try a new game instead.

You must wash your hands thoroughly when you are asked to.

You might not be able to play with the toys you want to, or sit where you want to but the grown ups are trying to keep everyone safe and happy so you need to listen.

At home time you need to walk to your grown up and remember to keep your hands safe.

If you are worried or sad you must tell a grown up and they can help you.
